

INTERIOR TALENT EXECUTIVE SEARCH DIVISION FINDS C.E.O. FOR WORTHEN FURNITURE.

The Interior Talent Executive Search Division proudly announces our placement of Worthen Furniture's C.E.O., Doug Rozenboom. Rozenboom is a design industry veteran, previously heading operations at various top manufacturers such as A.R.T Furniture and Jonathan Charles.

Worthen Furniture is the leading manufacturer of handcrafted custom beds and has been creating for nearly 50 years. Based in Virginia, the company has grown and evolved tremendously, becoming a respected source for top interior designers and hospitality groups. Doug Rozenboom's vision for Worthen Furniture is to continue the company's legacy as a business to trust and to ensure ultimate client satisfaction throughout the manufacturing process.

Doug Rozenboom has used his expertise in retail, strategy, and sales to make meaningful contributions to various design companies from small to larger scale. His experience dates back to 1993 in North Carolina, where he began as a furniture designer at an award-winning design studio by the name of Otto & Moore. Fast forward a decade, Rozenboom acquired leadership positions at renowned companies like Director of Design at Pottery Barn, Vice President of Creative Design at Walmart, and soon after, he served his longest tenure as an SVP Global Merchandising & Product Developer at Larson-Juhl.

Wherever Rozenboom has landed in his career, he's made it his objective to implement change while simultaneously maintaining the reputation and legacy of the company. We couldn't be more confident in his ability to lead a renowned company like Worthen towards continued success.
